

All visits, of whatever type, require approval either from the Headteacher or one of the Deputy Headteachers.

Verbal permission should be obtained from the Headteacher or one of the Deputy Headteachers four weeks before the outing.

An Education visit notification form (EV1) must be completed for all visits. This form (see Attached) gives all the information required and ensures that you have addressed and answered all the necessary questions. This must be completed and signed by the Head Teacher and the Group Leader with responsibility for the Outing at least two weeks before the date of the visit.

A Risk Assessment (Appendix Three) should be completed in respect of each visit and should accompany the EV1. In order to carry out this assessment a preliminary visit must be made to the venue.

The signed EV1, accompanied by the Risk Assessment, should be given to the Administrator at least one week before the date of the visit.

Parents must be aware of all visits and provided with relevant information. At least two weeks before the event a letter should be sent to parents giving information about the outing using the Checklist (Appendix One) as a guide. A voluntary contribution can be requested, with an explanation that if insufficient contributions are received the outing will not be able to proceed. The letter should be accompanied by a Consent Form (Appendix Two).

At least two days before the visit a copy of the Expedition Log Sheet should be given to Reception and to the Administrator and each of the Group Leaders who will be going on the Outing.

Transporting students using the Pace Minibus

Use of the Pace minibus must be in accordance with the minibus policy.

Funding and Parental Contributions

Where this is a cost involved in taking Pace children and young people on an outing, it is the responsibility of the trip organiser to make the necessary arrangements in line with the purchasing flowcharts and budget holder authorisation must be obtained as applicable.

It will be necessary to request voluntary donations from parents towards the cost of trips and outings. This must be reasonable and proportionate to the cost of the outing. Where the trip venue is free of charge, but the minibus is being used, a voluntary contribution from Parents may still be requested and in this case will be put towards running costs and maintenance of the minibus. The Teacher in each school group is responsible for maintain an overview of the frequency and amount of voluntary contributions requested from Parents in their class over the course of the year and will share these with the Heads of School upon completion of the EV1 form.

A record will be kept of which Parents have contributed to trips and outings and which have opted out. This will be maintained by the school administrator.

Transporting students in private vehicles

Children should wherever possible be transported by their parents, or in taxis or coaches. In exceptional cases they may be transported in your own cars, but please:

- obtain parents' permission in writing before the journey
- ensure that an adult escort accompanies the child. Such escort should travel in the rear seat with the child
- ensure that all passengers wear seat belts or the appropriate specified restraints.

Should you intend to transport children it is essential that you advise your insurance company that you will be occasionally transporting children during the course of your work. Please speak to your insurers and ensure that your insurance certificate or accompanying paperwork makes note of this. A copy of the relevant certificate should be brought in each year, confirming that such suitable insurance is in place. Please bring this in to the Administrator as soon as possible if you believe you will need to transport children so that your name can be added to the register of drivers. If your name is not on the register you must NOT transport pupils in your own vehicle.

PLEASE NOTE

All normal professional responsibilities/duties pertain on outings:
e.g. as smoking in the presence of children is not allowed, the same applies to outings.

Risk Assessments for Outings

Remember that risk assessment is a process and not a method for generating reams of paperwork. You should carry out a risk assessment to check that what you are planning is safe. You should consider hazards (things that could potentially cause harm) and risks (the chances of someone being harmed by a hazard). There are some basic principles that you should follow when carrying out risk assessments.

These include:

- identify the hazards, i.e. anything with the potential to cause harm
- decide who might be harmed and how the harm may occur
- decide what controls should be introduced to reduce the risk of harm
- record the findings of the assessment
- review the assessment if changes occur.

Potential hazards include narrow pavements and busy roads. Consider the precautions you need to take, for example, when children are dismounting from a coach. Find out where the toilets are and how safe the access is and where the emergency exits are in a building.

The complexity and depth of the risk assessment required will depend upon the type of visit being made.

Frequent visits to the same location may not need a risk assessment each time – you could produce a generic one. However, you should review such generic assessments regularly to guard against complacency.

The person carrying out the risk assessment should ensure copies are given to all teachers/supervisors on the visit, with details of the measures they should take to avoid or reduce the risk.

The group leader and other supervisory staff should monitor the risks throughout the visit and take appropriate action as necessary i.e. whether changes may increase the risk to a degree where the activity has to be curtailed.

The group leader should hold briefing meetings before the visit with all staff who are taking part to make their roles and responsibilities clear and

The group leader should give further briefings during the visit. This is especially important where there are any changes to the itinerary or activities which may present new or increased risks.
